

THE FUTURE HOSPITAL TAKES SHAPE
AS BEAUTIFUL WALLS
CONTINUE TO RISE

Some construction team members gathered in front of the building to take a photo.

Hard Hat Stickers Tell a Story

Across the WAHA Project, one sticker stands out. The artwork was created by local artist Michelle Kooses from Moose Factory.

This sticker is given to all team members when they take part in cultural learning sessions. These sessions have been guided by cultural educator Michael Etherington from Fort Albany.

We are grateful to Michael for generously sharing his knowledge and to Michelle for contributing her wonderful artwork to the Project!

IN THE COMMUNITY

It's An Honour

We were honoured to welcome Peter and Bernice Kapashesit to the workers' camp to lead a workshop on crafting traditional tamarack birds.

Through stories, teachings, and hands-on learning they shared their knowledge, culture, and craft with participants. Thank you, Peter and Bernice, for your generosity and guidance.

It was a meaningful experience that brought people together!

NATIONAL INDIGENOUS PEOPLES DAY

Thank you to the community for welcoming our participation at celebrations. A warm thank you to our team member, Katrina Rickard, who graciously led our team to celebrate National Indigenous Peoples Day.

A very special thank you to Beverley Kioke who took time to be with us and share her knowledge and explain the cultural significance of the day.
